

Signs of the Imminence of Judgement – May 8, 2018

TRANSLATION OF 'SEGNI DELL'IMMINENZA DEL GIUDIZIO – 8 MAGGIO 2018',
WRITTEN ON MAY 18

Today, the 18th, I found-out that ten days ago an event occurred, which was also providentially photographed by the proper angle: a bus went on fire. Shortly after, the same day, another one.

In the picture of the first bus on fire it is distinguishable that on the back of the vehicle is printed the poster of a show titled "Universal Judgement":

Below I'll include the original image of the poster, and I'll analyze the details in it which I deem to have apocalyptic relevance, offering my interpretations:

1. "Universal Judgement" and the bus goes on fire

It symbolizes that the multitude of reprobates, which takes fun in doing performances usurping the pearls of religion, lets itself be carried in a vehicle that, far from being the salvific Ark, is more similar to a ramshackle train which will bring them into the flames, at the unforeseen end of their race. Well metaphorized by a roman bus destroyed by the lack of maintenance.

2. "Worldwide shows"

The Universal Judgement will obviously be universal, global, no one will be able to miss it.

3. "An immersive show unique to the world"

The Universal Judgement will clearly be unique, inasmuch universal. It could not be revised/updated since it will come from God, Whom does not change idea, and will sign the end of one and another's works, thus not even the object to which the judgement is applied will be able to change anymore.

Being universal, and of eternal relevance, decreeing the final destiny of every creature, it will also be the most immersive event one could witness at this world.

4. "Michelangelo"

The authors of the poster referred to the painter and sculptor Michelangelo Buonarroti, but his name also refers to Saint Michael the Archangel, the Archangel who's the emblem of the Celestial militance, who rebuked and expelled from Heaven the first rebel: Lucifer.

According to the Catholic Calendar of the Saints, May 8 is the recurrence of the apparition of Saint Michael the Archangel.

It'll be the sound of a trumpet done by an Angel, to sign the opening of the Judgement.

5. "Auditorium Conciliazione", in Via [st.] della Conciliazione, Rome

The Universal Judgement will conciliate everyone with his/her own deserved destiny, and will be the definitive conciliation between God and the Catholic Rome (nowadays eclipsed by pagan Rome).

The explosion of this bus occurred in Via del Tritone [Street of the Triton]. The Triton is a demon, since it is nothing else than a mythological monster, and it is – even confronted to the other mythological idols – very similar to the most common appearance of Satan:

with the trident in his hand:

The first conflagration signing the unexpected end of the run happened in the Triton's street, just as the end into the infernal flames waiting for the oblivious or delusional impenitent reprobates will come while they're going through the Devil's road.

The accident to the other roman bus on the same day happened in the urbanistic zone 13I, known with the name: "Infernetto" ["Little Hell"].

And that which such bus encountered is clearly a 'little hell', a mere foreshadowing of the Hell waiting those who were also its passengers.

According to what the Corriere della Sera¹ reports, in addition to having occurred in the area 13I, the explosion of the second bus occurred around 13:30 [01:30 PM] (at 13:31?); while in the description under the video of the first bus on fire, uploaded by Andrea R. on YouTube, is said that the explosion of Via del Tritone occurred approximately at 10:30. Thus, there are a lot of 13s, for whatever that means.
